Sorry for some reason this was stuck in outbox...

Like you, I like the broker/ dealer model.

As for the finra application, I am more than happy to provide the Cypress ownership information to be included in the application as I have communicated prior. That said, I would just like to be assured that such information will be maintained on a confidential basis, within the company.

Do you want to discuss broker dealer at the board level or not? The company has moved on from this potential opportunity because we had to withdraw our FINRA application. We have made the appropriate changes at the company level to pursue monetizing the companies technology. If you want to discuss another strategy, you can present it to the board for consideration.

Mike – We must have misunderstood your desire to have a board call. So, as such, there is no need to have call on Wednesday or Thursday now.

Thanks, Joe
